

Thousands Stranded as Hungary Stops Refugees from Boarding Trains

Budapest, September 3 (RHC)-- In news from Europe, hundreds of people protested outside a Budapest train station over Hungary's decision to prevent people fleeing violence in their home countries from boarding westbound trains headed toward Germany. The move has left thousands of people stranded outside the station in 104-degree heat.

Meanwhile, at least 11 people have died and five more are missing after two boats headed to Greece sank off the coast of Turkey on Tuesday. Among the dead were a woman and her three children.
