

Mexico's Interjet Airlines Announces Two New Connections to Cuba

Mexico City, September 12 (RHC)-- Mexico's Interjet airlines has announced two new connections, Mexico-Varadero and Monterrey-Havana, to begin operating October 15th in tune with increasing tourist demand and to strengthen relations with Cuba.

According to Mexican specialized media, the Monterrey-Havana connection will operate eight weekly flights -- on Thursdays, Fridays, Sundays and Mondays -- while the Mexico-Varadero route will have four weekly flights on Thursdays and Sundays.

At present, Interjet maintains a Mexico-Havana connection with 24 weekly flights and 14 flights from Cancun and Quintana Roo.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/nacionales/68859-mexicos-interjet-airlines-announces-two-new-connections-to-cuba>

Radio Habana Cuba