

Parents of 43 Missing Students to Meet with Mexican President

Mexico City, September 15 (teleSUR-RHC)-- After almost a year since their children disappeared, the parents of 43 missing students are set to meet with Mexican President Enrique Peña Nieto. The disappearance of the students last September 26th has shaken the country and led to widespread protests. Last week, President Peña Nieto announced that he would meet with the parents of the missing students. "Mexico will continue with its efforts at achieving truth and justice in the Apatzaco case," he said. The parents of the missing students have long called for a meeting with state officials. "We require that Peña Nieto come and look us in the face before this month is over," they said. Some 60 people are expected to attend the meeting with the president, including the parents of the missing students. The President's announcement comes after international investigators released a report that concluded that the state's version of events - that the students were kidnapped by drug cartels - was false.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/69081-parents-of-43-missing-students-to-meet-with-mexican-president>

Radio Habana Cuba