

Cuban University to Award Russian Scientist with Honorary Title

Havana, February 1 (RHC)-- Havana's San Gerónimo University will present Russian scientist Viktor Anatolyevich Matveev, Director of the Joint Institute for Nuclear Research and Professor of the Russian Academy of Sciences, with an honorary doctorate.

The official ceremony, to be held Tuesday at the main lecture hall of the higher education center, is in the framework of activities on the 35th anniversary of Cuba's San Gerónimo University and the 40th anniversary of Cuba's membership of the Russian Academy of Sciences, a prestigious scientific research center that was founded 60 years ago.
