

Venezuela Deplores Passage of Amnesty Law

Caracas, Mar 30 (RHC) Legislators of Gran Polo Patriotico and several Venezuelan organizations deplored the Law on Amnesty and National Reconciliation, that opposition right wing, the majority force in Parliament, approved in second round.

United Socialist Party of Venezuela MP, Hector Rodriguez, called it judiciary and political aberration, promoter of violence, and warns that four months after the Parliament resumed sessions, the opposition has not issued a single bill to help the country overcome its current economic impasse.

He notes that political blindness has led the opposition to turn its back on reality, and has done but fight to free murderers and corrupts from jail, while hosting an internal conflict to decide who will be the candidate for governor, but the people are watchful with this National Assembly, useless as it is proving for the majority in Venezuela.
