

Cuba and Vietnam Discuss Joint Infrastructure Projects

Hanoi, June 13 (RHC)-- Representatives from Cuba and Vietnam are today analyzing joint infrastructure development projects.

The Cuban delegation, led by Construction Minister René Mesa, met Monday in Hanoi with Vietnamese Transport Minister Truong Quang Nghia.

During the exchange, the Cuban official spoke extensively about prioritized infrastructure programs in the Caribbean state, among them road repair and maintenance. He said one of the objectives of the visit is to learn from the Vietnamese experience.
